? How have the local communities reacted to your arrival?

” Emile sagt:

* The arrival of Weziza has changed everything in Takpachiomey, where I live and work, because we no longer live in darkness.

* In the evenings, there are fewer cattle thefts, and people can go about their business: selling fish or meat because they can use a freezer, for example, or working as a welder or miller

*This strengthens the economy.

Status-Check:

Following Oikocredit's investment in off-grid company WEZIZA, we look at how better access to electricity supports economic development in West Africa.

The new mini-grids have had a positive impact on more than 2,500 households and 15,000 people.
